

Phonetic Alphabet Find

In the sentences below are all the words from the phonetic alphabet. See if you can find them. WARNING: The sentences are not in alphabetical order.

If you visit the capital city Lima, you would be in Peru.

If you break a bone you might need an xray to see where it is broken.

The river flowed through the delta before travelling out to the sea.

The capital of India is Dehli.

A person from the southern continent of Africa might be a Zulu.

The children used their golf clubs to hit the ball to the green.

The last three months of the year are October, November and December.

The football team is made up of Sara, Tim, Sam, Oscar, Sydney and Bob in goal.

Romeo, Romeo, where for art thou Romeo.

Some of the words which can replace the word dad, are father, papa and pa.

The pride of lions had only one alpha male.

You know who a policeman is, by the uniform they wear.

When Mary met Juliet for the first time, they just smiled.

The slang for a person from the United States is a Yankee.

When you go on holiday, you might stay at a hotel or an apartment.

If you want an orange drink, you might have a can of Tango.

John and Charlie left to go shopping at twenty past ten.

There are many car makes; such as the Mini, Sierra, Porche and Mondeo.

The Scottish are known for the whisky they produce.

The children all listened for the echo in the large cavern.

A person who winner a battle might be called a victor, champion or winner.

Hello Mike, are you feeling good today ?

The teacher exclaimed bravo, when one of her children got all the questions correct.

One kilo is equivalent to one thousand grams.

On Strictly Come Dancing, the dancers danced the foxtrot, last week.

If you visit Canada you might go to Quebec, where they mainly speak French.